

Terms and Conditions of Health n Habits Cooking Studio

Please be aware the following are the terms and conditions you are agreeing to when booking.

A bit about yourself

It is important for the studio to know your personal details when booking. This will help us help you. These details will be kept safe and secure and will not be passed on. Please make sure these details are correct! Most importantly please list anything more we need to know! This is where you would put in an allergy, a disability or anything else we may need to know. It is important that you do NOT make assumptions about ingredients used for a given class as they may not be suitable for all people and the kitchen is used for other things. The kitchen does contain wheat, gluten and other allergy products but these items will not be used in all classes. Your information is needed before we can accept your booking and Payment is required to confirm you place.

Safety First!

Covered in, closed toed, flat shoes are to be worn in all cooking classes. This is an Occupational Health & Safety requirement. You will not be allowed to enter the class without the correct type of shoes... and sorry no refunds will be given!

Also

As this kitchen space is for different programs it would be appreciated if each participant could follow the health and safety requirements of the studio when in class. These include- Washing hands, tying long hair back, handling knives correctly, safe use of appliances and appropriate food handling procedure. These will be outlined at the beginning of your class.

Start times

As we have a lot to get though in these classes it would be beneficial for you to arrive at the studio 10-15 minutes before start time. This will give you time to get settled and so you can get maximum benefit from the class. If you are running a little late please let me know so we can work something out that won't compromise the other participants experience.

Cancelling/ refunds

Please choose carefully as class and gift certificate are not refundable. However in some situations exceptions may apply but fees will be applied, no money will be refunded.

If you are unable to attend but a friend or family member can, please notify the studio of this change via email or phone and we will happily help out.

Health n Habits Cooking Studio reserves the right to change your class date within 48 hours of your scheduled class. In the event this has happened a refund may be issued or you can rebook another date.

About your class

Please wear comfortable clothing and closed toed flat shoes to your class. Health n Habits will lend you an apron to use while you are with us.

The menu set for your class may change slightly on the day to take advantage of market availability and seasonal produce but will still fit into the class program.

For privacy of the studio and the others in your class we ask that you do not record any parts of the class. It would be greatly appreciated if you don't use your phone during this time.
